How to check / delete / remove cookies?

In order for websites to function properly and user-friendly, most browsers automatically accept certain cookies. The visitor may manually accept the recommended cookie settings at the first visit on the website in a message or modify them. In the case of cookies associated with the consent of the data subject, the setting of the use of these cookies or the acceptance (authorization) of the recommended cookie settings is deemed to constitute the consent to the relevant data processing. You can delete this consent at any time in your browser settings menu, which is considered as a withdrawal of the relevant consent for data processing. Changing the settings for such cookies later (for example, by setting the cookies that are strictly necessary only) is also a withdrawal of the relevant consent for data processing.
